FACES GOING PLACES

Faces were going places from day one of the 180-day school year. On August 25, 438 students and 34 teachers began a year filled with spirit.

Welcome to the Jungle! Faces were appalled as they first entered the hall and witnessed the multiple shades of green. After the initial shock, students were pleased to finally have "clean" lockers.

Another major addition of more teachers which meant more class offerings and fewer students in each class. Everyone has to work harder now — more homework. Most students, however, do their homework at school just before it is due.

Some students took advantage of the dual credit courses and are enrolled in classes for which they will receive high school as well as college credit. WCC offered a computer class at our school. Students, teachers, and the public took advantage of this opportunity. Two students travel to WCC to take calculus.

It seems there were Senior faces everywhere as the largest Senior Class ever (50) assembled in Mr. Bird's homeroom. Senior boys said good-bye to their classmates as a new homeroom was created.

Faces change as one class leaves and another begins and the tingles of excitement were all new for the people experiencing high school for the first time.

Megabite — many students found new and frustrating friends in the computers as 27 students signed up for word processing.

Fashions — or rather the length of women's skirts were often the topic of conversation and the adventure of avoiding a face to face meeting with Mrs. Borum was created.

The band returns! The first performance of the six member band was at the annual Halloween Carnival and they sounded great. The Halloween Carnival, class competition to raise the most money, took an unusual turn as Jason Lambert, a tenth grader, was drafted just minutes before the procession into the gym as an escort for Amy Bradshaw, an eighth grader. And, they were crowned King and Queen.

What have you been doing with your aluminum cans? The newly organized Aluminum Theatre sells aluminum cans as a money making project. Also, the Aluminum Theatre entertained the student body with three plays.

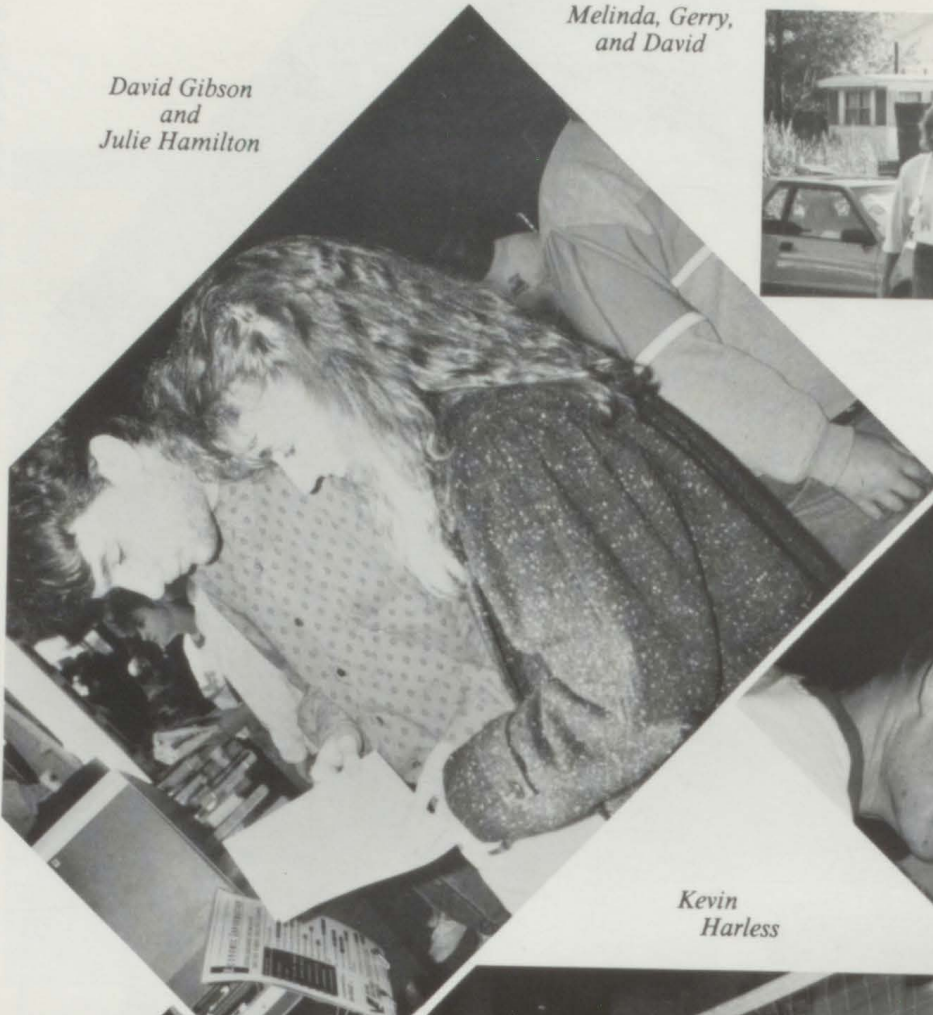

Elementary students welcomed the return of elementary physical education.

NO SCHOOL TODAY in Bland County was heard three times during the month of December because of snow. Those welcome words vanished into the month of January, however, as temperatures soared into the seventies and the January thaw lasted most of the month.

Students have been preparing for MACC competition in the fields of Math, Science, English, Social Studies and All Around. This is our first venture in academic competition among schools in our area.

A delegation of students attended the Model U.N. at Graham High School. A simulation of countries meeting to attempt to solve the world's problems was experienced by those in attendance.

Strange faces have recently been seen in our hall. Fifteen applicants want to be Superintendent of Bland County Schools and have been touring the county schools.

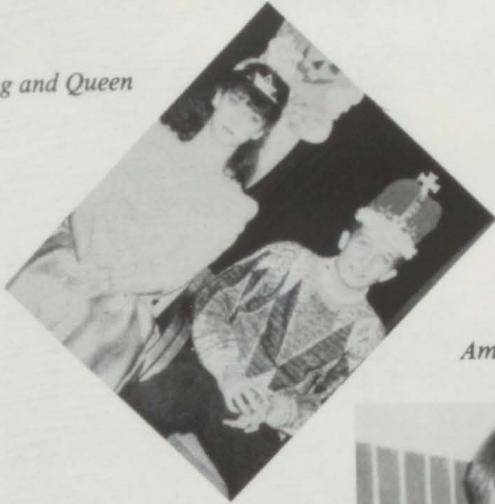

Another significant event includes applying for a Literary Loan which will result in a facelift in our school as well as the planned addition of several classrooms.

Students have experienced many enjoyable activities including celebrating friends' birthdays, pep rallies, basketball games, special assemblies (Tony Blankenship playing the fiddle), goofing off, lunch, and detention (or at least some people seem to enjoy it because they are always in detention).

When asked, "What will you remember about this school year?" most students were at a loss for words or just said simply — "nothing."

As the yearbook goes to press, we still look forward to many rewarding experiences in this school year including the Beta Convention, Senior trip, Prom, Beauty Contest and many other activities. Indeed our faces are going places.

today's ... and future expectations become realities—graduation, a job, college, a home—you assume new responsibilities.

Just as we do. Because when customers need electric service, we are obligated to provide it.

And we always knew that you and your classmates might one day be our customers. That's why we started planning for today ten years ago, so that we could provide electricity for the lifestyle you choose.

We hope we can supply electricity for all your tomorrows, too.
